Through the FRAME project, the University of Buea in partnership with five African Universities are offering Master’s and Doctoral scholarships degree programmes in the areas of Food, Energy, Water and Security.

Qualified graduates from the University of Buea and Cameroon in general can apply for scholarship to study for a Master’s or Doctoral degree programme offered in the following FRAME partner Universities in Africa: Namibia University of Science and Technology, Namibia; Nkwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Ghana; Hawassa University, Ethiopia and the University of the Free State, South Africa.

Within the FRAME project, the University of Buea, is offering scholarships for the Master’s degree programme in Agricultural Economics and that of Wetlands Ecology and Management, and Doctoral programme in Agriculture with specialization in Crop Production. This call is opened to graduates from the FRAME partner universities and graduates from any other universities in Africa.

Female graduates are highly encouraged to apply and have special support to make them succeed.
